SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY MANAGEMENT SYSTEM

AND CONTACTS

What is SA8000?

SA8000 is an international standard based on a voluntary commitment. The Standard defines the requirements that a company or organization must comply in order to be recognized as socially responsible. The law was established in 1997 by the SAI (Social Accountability International), an international organization based in New York that works in defense of human rights.

What Social Responsibility means

In defining the SA8000 standard, the SAI has considered the worker as the main subject to be protected, at any level of the production chain: from its employees to the employees of its customers, up to those of its suppliers.

The logic behind this is in the fact that if every person involved becomes responsible and aware of the impact of his actions on a large scale, and therefore on society, the tendency will be towards an improvement in the quality of life of all.

Why does Wind Tre follow this certification?

Wind Tre considers its employees a capital to be protected, ensuring the respect for every worker. The SA8000 certification requires that the Company has a Social Responsibility Management System, is subjected to periodic checks by an external Certification Body, which guarantees that the requirements of the standard are constantly respected and applied.

How to make reports on non-compliance with the Standard

Interested parties, employees, suppliers, customers and stakeholders that relate to Wind Tre can make comments, recommendations, reports or complaints regarding the application of the SA8000 Standard using the following ways:

→ Wind Tre management system: qualitycertification@windtre.it
